

Certificate of Completion

Levi Redinger

has successfully completed the following training and passed the final exam:

Python Basics

The course (32 h) included the following topics:

- > Basic skills: Understanding data types, error messages, input and output
- > Flow-control: Combine conditions, loops and functions
- > Data manipulation: Lists and dictionaries, reading files
- > Consolidation: Additional aspects & four-hour final project, as well as final test

Dr. Alexander Eckrot
Head of Educational Content
StackFuel GmbH

Berlin, 19. June 2026

Online-Verification: <https://stackfuel.com/verify/pmkaYM1szGBGXrwI>

StackFuel is Germany's first provider of corporate online courses in the field of data analytics and data science. In StackFuel's Data Lab, course participants work on interactive programming exercises and have access to high-quality learning videos. StackFuel's training concept has received several awards, including the "Special Award for Digital Education" from the German Federal Ministry of Economics and Energy and the Startup Award at Europe's largest e-learning trade fair Learntec. Find out more at stackfuel.com.